

Week 15 – May 4th – May 10th

Seattle

Saturday May 4 – Friday May 10

Seattle

This week is a touchdown week in Seattle before we start the 3rd and final leg of our adventure – haircuts, doctor appointments, home maintenance, household business and various trip preparations. We also work in a few bike rides for Max to make sure he is ready for his Sicily bike adventure including doing the Lake Washington loop (or the top half loop over the 520 bridge).

I also find myself with a robust set of Gates Foundation work and meetings with multiple meetings on each day including Saturday and Sunday.

Friday morning, we hop our next plane from Seattle to San Francisco to Zurich to Palermo – departing 9:45AM Seattle time and arriving 5:30PM on Saturday Palermo time.

Given the dominance of work this week I have decided to take a bloggers holiday as this does not seem the right forum for work reflections.
